2. On [REDACTED] the runway and taxiways were covered with snow about 5 cm deep. About 30 single-engine, low-wing monoplanes with white upper edges on their rudder assemblies were parked on the southern edge of the field. Ten additional planes of the same type were parked in a small wooded area farther to the north-east. There was no flying or other activity at the field between 9:30 a.m. and 1 p.m.; there was occasionally thick fog. *

* Comment. The report confirms previous information [REDACTED] that the Staaken airfield is occupied by one ground attack regiment which was previously stationed in Jueterbog, according to the markings on the rudder assembly and shipments observed. One air transport squadron, equipped with Li-2s, is believed to be stationed in Staaken.
